DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's arguments, see the Appeal Brief, filed February 28, 2005, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-108 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejections have been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made herein below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1-39 and 41-61 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kinebuchi et al.

Kinebuchi et al. teach a communications transceiver (wireless transceiver) for broadcasting a wireless signal to establish a wireless communications link with a mobile customer (40-1, 40-2) within a predetermined distance of a vendor facility (10), a control circuit coupled to said transceiver for controlling said transceiver to establish the communication link with the mobile customer and for receiving a wireless order from said customer, said control circuit causing said received order to be processed to fulfillment (Figure 5).

Claims 62-108 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Showghi et al.

Showghi et al. teach a personal wireless communications apparatus for wirelessly placing a customer order, said communications apparatus comprising:

a display device for displaying order information;

an input device (wireless devices, PDAs, cell telephones) for entering order information;

a wireless transceiver (54) for transmitting and receiving order information when said apparatus is within a predetermined range of a vendor facility broadcasting a wireless signal, and a control circuit (52) for operating said transceiver to establish a wireless communications link with a vendor within said range and for exchanging order information with said vendor, said control circuit operating said display device to display customer order information.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

...Ragsdale-Elliott et al., note wireless ordering system.
